A RISE IN REAL ESTATE.

The Enterprise says:

A system of land piracy has been successfully carried on in this State under the sanction of law for many years. No other State in the Union has been so liberal in her policy controlling the disposition of her portion of the public domain as Nevada. The world has been invited to come forward and establish a proprietorship on our soil at the rate of $1 25 an acre, one-fifth down and the balance payable in installments of five cents an acre for twenty years. Were all our land disposed of at this price, the State would derive a very handsome revenue for her school funds. Owing to the system of land piracy, already referred to, the State has been regularly swindled in every real estate transaction in which her interests were concerned. The man who bought forty acres of land contiguous to a spring, river or lake had the actual possession and enjoyment of, perhaps, ten or twenty thousand acres adjacent thereto without the latter costing him a nickel. The reason is obvious. So long as a buyer holds a good title to the land bordering on a stream he is monarch of all he can see beyond and around that stream. The owner of forty acres upon which exists a spring thus has a free range, or pasturage, of several square miles, and the State is out of pocket by the operation. In illustration of this evil we can cite one case out of a thousand. In a certain township there are about 25,000 acres of land, but only two springs. At $1 25 an acre this township ought to realize for the State the sum of $31,250. But the land pirate knows that by buying up the land immediately surrounding the springs he practically becomes the owner of the 25,000. He therefore buys the smallest subdivision which the law permits, that is forty acres around each spring. For these two small tracts he pays $100, and after giving $20 on account he is allowed twenty years in which to pay the balance. That for which he ought to pay $31,250 he gets for $100. In other words, the State has been selling these water-grabbers, mainly consisting of a rich and powerful syndicate of cattlemen, her selected lands at a rate less than half a cent an acre.

The public may think that it is time, this bold and impudent steal was either stopped altogether or, at least, checked. They will be glad to know that the Board of Regents, which, under the law, actually controls the price at which the State lands shall be sold, yesterday took the first step toward arresting this flagrant evil by raising the price of all lands contiguous to springs, streams or lakes from $1 25 an acre to $2 50 an acre outside the limits of the Pacific Railroad grant, and from $2 50 an acre to $5 an acre inside those limits. The movement was a bold one, and is likely to excite the hostility of the cattle ring, which for the last few months has been making business very lively in the State Land Office filing claims on every little forty acre tract in the State contiguous to water. In doubling the price of these lands the Regents may not succeed in breaking up the big game of the land grabbers, since they will continue, as heretofore, to locate only the narrow strips bordering on streams or springs, but they, at least, succeed in making them pay one cent instead of less than half a cent for the spoils. The action of the Board also ought to have the further effect of opening the eyes of the people to the land question in Nevada, and to the imperative necessity of demanding some legislation which shall defeat the schemes of the land grabbers and render it possible for the State to command a fair price for so much of its heritage as has yet escaped the rapacious hands of the despoilers.

Senator Logan's handsome home on Columbia Heights, Washington, is almost ready for occupancy. It is the place known as the old Stone Mansion, and cost the Senator $20,000. The house is large, convenient and handsome. There is about an acre and a half of ground, and the view of the city from the front porch is one of the handsomest to be obtained from any point on the heights.

The Tuscarora Times-Review says: Pawning's cart wheel map is imperfect in one particular. It should have a cut in the center of the hub representing the JOURNAL office, and on the cupola a statue of the General, with one eye on the Insane Asylum and the other on the State University; the right arm uplifted towards Heaven and the left hand, holding a certificate of election as United States Senator, pointing in the direction of Washington.

Thomas Hughes, the Postmaster at Albuquerque, New Mexico, and Assistant Postmaster Clark, have been arrested, a shortage of $1,900 having been discovered in their accounts.

SENATOR JAMES G. FAIR.

He talks freely on Nevada Affairs.

The Carson Free Lance says:

Recently Judge Sewell had the honor of an interview with Senator James G. Fair in his parlors at the Occidental Hotel in San Francisco. The object of our visit was to enlist the Senator's efforts in the interest in the proposed Indian school for Nevada. As Congressional W. S. Holman, Chairman of the Committee on Indian affairs, was in the city at the same time, it was hoped that some influence might be brought to bear upon Indian statesmen through Senator Fair and other Nevadans then in the city, to investigate the subject on the Coast, and make a report to the next Congress on the educational needs of Pab-Utes, Paiutes, Shoshones and Washoe Indians. The Senator conversed freely and promised all of the assistance in his power. Said he and Hon. George W. Merrill had talked with U. S. Indian Commissioner Aitken and others in authority in Washington, and expressed himself as positive when the demand was properly made Nevada would receive her share of the $500,000 annually appropriated for the education of the Indians. He believed the Pab-Utes especially were an intelligent race in comparison with similar Indian races and should receive an education, and should have the opportunity to do so.

The Senator then branched off on various other matters appertaining to Nevada. Speaking of the depressed times in the State he said it was unfortunate, very unfortunate.

Judge Sewell ventured to ask him what he thought of the proposition to reduce miners wages from $1 per day. "Well," he replied, "from present appearances at Eureka and Candelaria it would seem that there must come a reduction, but you know in our mines on the Comstock we don't wish to reduce wages. I have always been in favor of paying in these hot mines anything that the miners would ask."

All questions relating to the Mint, or politics of a personal nature, were avoided, but here, let it be mentioned, that a few days ago Fair got off a clunker on Daggett. A personal friend of the latter in an interview with the Senator said, "I understand that Hon. R. M. Daggett is to be your opponent in the Senatorial race and will make a big fight against you for the honors." "Well, yes; I hear," replied Fair, "that I have got to use all of my personal and political friends, against Daggett's money, or he is likely to get away with the fight up there; you know my son, that money is a power in Nevada politics."

Daggett admits that he owes Fair a drink, and will treat him on sight.

Senator Fair expects to be in Carson and Virginia City soon.

Alaska's Volcano.

Lieutenant George M. Storey, commanding the Alaska exploring expedition, reports to the Navy Department from St. Michael's Alaska, June 30, that after leaving Unalaska, June 9, he visited the new volcano on Bogosloo Island, and found the only changes since his last year's visit to be a less discharge of smoke and steam and a small point making off from the northwest end of the new volcano. Birds had commenced nesting in the new volcano.

Visitors to Grant's Tomb.

The Sun says the crowd at Riverside Park was larger last Sunday than at any time since the day after Grant's funeral. The stragglers began coming early, and a steady line poured past the tomb all day. Over 40,000 visited the park during the day. Colonel Fred Grant and his wife visited the tomb Saturday evening.

The JOURNAL is positive that Mr. Fogus has not lost his mill, nor has any proceedings been instituted to foreclose any mortgage against the property, nor is it likely that there will be any. Mr. Fogus, we are assured, will continue right along in business. The mill will start up to-morrow and there is plenty of wheat on hand to run for a long time, and the people can get as good flour as ever.

The Trouble Ended.

A gentleman who arrived from Candelaria Monday evening says that a meeting of the miners was held last Sunday evening to consider and act upon the wages proposition. There were seventy-eight miners present, and when the matter finally came to a vote seventy-seven voted to accept the proposition of the mine managers, and agreed that all who wished to go to work for $3 per day should have the privilege of doing so. In accordance with this decision work was resumed in all the mines, all hands starting in with a will at $3 per day. A large additional force is to be put to work as speedily as practicable.

RAILROAD FREIGHT REDUCTION.

New Schedule Rates in Favor of Nevada and Utah—A Voluntary Concession.

The Southern Pacific Company, which now manages the affairs of the Central Pacific Railroad, has made a material reduction in rates of freight between San Francisco, Sacramento and Stockton, California, and points in Nevada and Utah. On some articles a reduction of nearly one-half has been made, while on very many articles the rates have been reduced one-third or more, commencing with the first of the present month. This reduction, says the Silver State, like all others that have been made in railroad rates in Nevada, was the voluntary act of the company. No legislative body, State or National, has ever reduced transportation rates in this State, though in almost every campaign, since the railroad was built, demagogues have endeavored to get into office by promising in platforms and on the stump what they would do in that direction if elected. The statutes show, however, that railroads in Nevada are authorized to charge ten cents per mile for passengers, and twenty cents per ton per mile for freight, so that the people are under no obligations whatever to the "statesmen" who make our laws for any reduction in fares or freight; in fact the corporations are much more liberal than the law-makers, as in no instance do they charge much over one-half what the law allows them, while in very many cases they do not charge one-tenth the amount authorized by law; all of which prove that the people must look to the railroad companies, not to the Legislature, to regulate fares and freights.

BOARD OF REGENTS.

Important Action Monday—The Price of All State Lands Doubled in Value.

The Enterprise publishes the full proceedings of the Board of Regents on Monday as subjoined:

The Board of Regents of the State University met at Carson yesterday. Messrs. Rand, Gatchell and Shaw being present. Superintendent Architect Curtis reported that Burke Brothers, the contractors for the erection of the new University building at Reno, were performing their work in good shape and according to the contract. A number of bills were audited and ordered paid. Next Saturday, the 12th instant, was fixed upon as the day for laying the corner stone, and the Secretary of the Board, M. D. Noteware, was directed to so inform the Hon. M. A. Murphy, Grand Master of the Grand Lodge, F. and A. M., State of Nevada.

On motion of Regent Shaw, seconded by Regent Gatchell, the following order was entered upon the minutes:

Ordered, That on and after September 8, 1885, the following shall be the price of all agricultural and grazing lands that have been, or may hereafter be, granted by the United States to the State of Nevada, and which have not been settled upon or applied for prior to said date:

Upon agricultural and grazing lands within the limits of the Central Pacific Railroad grant, immediately contiguous to springs, lakes or streams, $5 per acre. Upon agricultural and grazing lands without the limits of the Central Pacific Railroad grant, immediately contiguous to springs, lakes or streams, $2 50 per acre.

The effect of the foregoing order is to raise the price of all State lands to double their present value.

The Board adjourned to meet again on October 10.

Shipping Cattle East.

A prominent cattle man, who knows whereof he speaks, tells the Silver State that 12,000 head of beef cattle from northern ranges, which have heretofore found a market in San Francisco, have been sold to Chicago buyers this season for shipment East. The largest sales were made by N. H. A. Mason, Lux & Miller, Pete French, W. B. Todhunter, Stauffer & Sweetser, and Colonel Hardin, each and all of whom have ranges in Grant or Baker counties, in Oregon. Sales have also been made to Eastern purchasers in the eastern part of Nevada and in Utah, by Sparks & Tinnin and other well-known stock men. These sales to Eastern buyers from sections of the country which have heretofore relied exclusively on the California market has caused an upward tendency in the price of fat beefes for Fall and Winter delivery, as it relieves the San Francisco market of a surplus.

THE VAIL RANCH.

One of Nevada's Model Stock Farms.

The Lyon Co. Times says:

A reporter of this paper had the opportunity this week of visiting the ranch of the Vail Bros., below Fort Churchill, and found there much of interest to speak of. This ranch is about thirty miles below Dayton on the Carson river and was formerly the property of John Carling. It was purchased by the Vail Bros. about two years ago, for a stock and dairy ranch, and since then many much needed improvements have been made, in fact so many improvements have been made that one would hardly recognize the place as the old Carling ranch. Large and spacious barns, out houses, corrals and sheds for agricultural implements and machinery have been built; many miles of wire fencing have been put up, and still improvements are being made. There are over four thousand acres of land in the ranch, the greater part of which may be put in a high state of cultivation, and none of which is not good land for a stock range. The owners have several thousand head of cattle roaming over the hills and last year they purchased some thirty head of fine Galloway bulls, which with the exception of two thoroughbreds, they have turned with the herd to improve the common stock. This breed is considered the best for beef cattle, and it will be but few years before the Vails will have one of the finest if not the finest herd of beef cattle on the coast, or in America for that matter. They also have a number of Norfolk cattle which are as fine dairy cattle as there are in the world but there is not as much profit in them for beef as in the Galloways. The two Galloway bulls that are kept up are probably the finest animals on the coast. They will be exhibited at the State Fair this Fall. Not much attention is being paid to the dairy business as it is claimed there is no money in it, for the reason that it would have to be carried on on such a large scale, and the market at the present time is not large enough. Among the large stock of horses on this ranch are some very good animals. They are mostly work horses, but there is some trotting and running stock. Not so much attention is being paid to this department either, the beef industry being the principal occupation. The hay crop this season is very large and between fourteen and fifteen hundred tons have been cut and stacked on the ranch. This will be used to feed the stock during the seasons that feed is not good in the hills. For the cutting of this hay four of McCormick's new style mowers were used, and to stack it a novel machine which saves the labor of five or six men as used. There is a fine garden on the ranch where every kind of vegetable is raised; also a fine orchard which supplies an abundance of fruit. Pigs, chickens, ducks and dogs are numerous and it is a noticeable feature that all are thoroughbreds; in fact it may be justly be called a thoroughbred ranch for the boys themselves are thoroughbred gentlemen and their employees are thoroughbred workers. To the ranch belongs one of the finest water rights on the river, and there are over forty miles of irrigating ditches which lead the water to all parts of the land. It is undoubtedly as fine a piece of property as there is in the State today, and probably could not be purchased for $100,000.
